

THE ADVOCATE.

RELIGIOUS.

Howards Mills Baptist church is now ready for use with exception of inside finish, and will be dedicated in the early spring.

Rev. J. Ditzler will preach at the M. E. church in this city Wednesday night March 2nd. He will remain until after Sunday and preach morning and evening.

The Christian church at this place will soon put in an organ. The church members, or a majority of them, have wanted an organ for a long time. It will add greatly to the music, and we congratulate them.—Hazel Green Herald.

Rev. F. A. Savage began a protracted meeting at this place last Thursday night. It will continue during this week and as long as results will justify. He will be assisted by his brother from Georgetown, Ky., who will be here Tuesday.—Compton correspondent Hazel Green Herald.

Rev. Thos. Wood, of Tilton, Fleming county, visited his brother, Major A. T. Wood, and other relatives in this city this week, and being requested by a number of friends preached at the Methodist church Sunday evening. Mr. Wood is an earnest faithful Christian worker. His sermon was plain and practical and was well received. A notice in advance will insure him a large audience should he return.

About the last of March or first of April, Evangelist George H. Simmons, assisted by Prof. and Mrs. D. B. Towner, of Chicago, will hold a Workers Convention in the Baptist church here. Mr. Simmons is widely known in connection with Y. M. C. A. work and as special evangelist work. God has blessed him in his labors. Prof. and Mrs. Towner are fine musicians and prime favorites with Mr. D. L. M. ooley. The Baptist congregation hope to follow this meeting by a protracted service for several weeks, to be conducted by them. Object of the Workers convention is the study of the bible and Christians of all denominations are invited to attend and take part in these exercises. The pastor of the Baptist church will present the matter to the public more fully later on.

Dr. Clark reports the health of the community greatly improved.

J. H. Schultz will go to Louisville in a few days to attend the spring course of lectures at the Kentucky School of Medicine.

Having seen nothing from this place lately, I write you a few brief notes that others may see through your popular paper what our prosperous portion of the county is doing.

The new church at this place is nearing completion. It will seat 400 people, and is a well constructed building. Rev. E. E. Bomar, of your city, preached his first sermon in it last Sunday.

Esquire E. C. Owings is now ready (and is growing impatient at the delay) for his first couple to come in and be joined in the holy bands of matrimony. He has been for days rehearsing the form he has prepared to use at the ceremony.

We hope the County Court will, in the immediate future, make a provision for the building of a bridge across Slate at this place. This is an improvement that would add very greatly to the convenience and business interest of this section. J. M. P.

Things Useful to Know.

We take the following from the Good Housekeeper by "Elizabeth":

A new, soft, paint brush is a good thing to dust carved furniture with, as the bristles will penetrate the deepest crevices.

Undressed kid gloves may be cleaned by washing them in naphtha. Wash in the hands and hang them out in the air to dry.

Mr. E. C. O'neal writes from Florida that his health is fast improving and hopes to be permanently cured.
